

ABSTRACT

A cutting board includes a knife sharpener secured to the board. In a preferred form, the cutting board is formed from polyethylene and includes an over-molded polyethylene housing that retains a pair of ceramic rods that are accessible within a notch in the housing. A 5 knife drawn through the notch in the housing makes contact with the rods and is sharpened.